More than simply weaving together Baldwin's thoughts in an incisive, poetic way, what makes Peck's film truly remarkable is how it repeatedly connects the writer's thoughts not just to the present but to all of American history and its visual culture. Violet Lucca, Sight & Sound

Based on James Baldwin's unfinished memoir Remember This House, this penetrating documentary essay examines the lives and deaths of three of Baldwin's friends and fellow activists—Malcolm X, Martin Luther King Jr. and Medgar Evers. In doing so the film masterfully and enthrallingly evokes the tensions of the civil rights movement and the passions and philosophy that guided them.
